*O'Donnell & Naccarato wins
"Outstanding Engineer" Award*

Philadelphia, PA: O'Donnell & Naccarato, a Philadelphia-based structural engineering firm, is pleased to announce that it is the recipient of the 2006 "Outstanding Engineer" Award, presented by the Subcontractors Association of Delaware Valley (SADV). The award was recently celebrated at the 37th annual awards banquet held at the Old York Road Country Club in Spring House, PA.

Founded in 1968, the 120 member firm SADV is an organization of construction subcontractors, specialty trade contractors, suppliers and vendors committed to improving the professionalism and competitiveness of its member companies through educational programs, government advocacy and industry liaisons, while providing opportunities for networking and leadership.

O'Donnell & Naccarato was first selected as one of the three top candidates for the award by the 25-member nominating committee comprised of SADV's current and past members of the organization's Board of Directors and was then voted as the 2006 "Outstanding Engineer" by ballots cast by SADV's member firms.
